

474

LEO II      Emperor in East.

474-5

476-480

Julius Nepos western emperor at Ravenna, then in Dalmatia.

474

Leo II was Byzantine Emperor.

Jan. 18, 474

Death of Leo I
His successor Zeno dropped theodoric Strabo

Kong Thessalimis was not able to take THESSALONICA for the beginning of the campaigning in 474, but he did extant a favorable treaty for his soldiers. They were settled in the macedonian CIVITATES of EUROPPOS, KYRRHOS, PELLA, BEROEA, METHONE, PYDNA, and Dium. They had gained fertile settlement land and access to the VIA EGNATIA, the important road.

Thiophene model in Kharasch
LUDVÍK DUZAČKO & THESS ALWICER

Theudimir died at Kyrathos, his brothers raised up Theodore as their king. Theodore's younger brother Theudimerus was completely passed over.

474/475

A number of bishops were sent to negotiate peace between the Goths and the empire the second episcopal delegation included BASILIUS, LEONTIUS of Arles, FAUSTUS of Riez and GRAECUS of Marseille. All 4 were respectable colleagues and correspondents of Sidonius A POLLINARIS.

474

Migrations of Ostrogoths within the Balkans

Theodoric the Great's elevation to King in Macedonia

474-491

1912 Dates J-BK

East Empire

Zeno was emperor, after a brief regency for his son Leo II

474-475

1912 Dates J-BK

West Empire

Julius NEPOS was appointed emperor by the emperor of the East.

June 474

Eastern Emperor ZENO I (474-491) dispatched a new candidate for emperor of west, JULIUS NEPOS, to Italy with a small army. Glycerius fled. JULIUS NEPOS became emperor but a yr later was overthrown.

474-475

---

Julius Nepos was emperor.

ZENO is emperor in East. He has a turbulent reign marked by debauchery and conspiracies

Julius Nepos Western emperor.
Leo I dies and is succeeded by his grandson Leo II who dies and is succeeded by his father Zeno the Isaurian.

474 AD

JULIUS NEPOS (West)

LEO II (East)

emperors

474 → 475
West

mm? died 480

NEPOS

Was proclaimed emperor
by order of LEO I

474-475

Zeno was Byzantine Emperor

474

Leo II was Emperor of Byzantium

474-491

ZENO was Emperor of Byzantium

474

Teg II in East

474 - 480 AD
June

JULIUS NEPOS

reigned 474 to II stated d Mar 9, AD 480

last legitimate Western emperor, ruled 474-480 AD. Born of a distinguished family, he was sent by the Eastern ruler Leo I to govern Italy as patrician or supreme magistrate. NEPOS at once deposed the Western emperor Glycerius, proclaiming himself emperor in June 474. A year later he was obliged to recognize the independence of the Visigothic kingdom centred near present is given by programme ~~labeled~~ version 0.3. It can be used as follows.

6743275

First, select the desired parameters through the menu (see fig. 1). Then choose (middle) ~~the~~ option "Run". The program will then
compute the posterior
distribution, i.e. ~~the~~ the posterior

474-475

Tulius NEPOS (in West)

474 AD - 491 AD

ZENO, Eastern Roman Emperor

474-491 AD

Zeno (in Ext)